NOW PLAYING: American Idiot by Green Day

So, I doubt that anyone thinks that I DON'T love my country. I am sure many think that I am a conspiracy theory nut-job but oh well, that's ok by me. Why start my update this way? Simple, I am reading a book called "Lies My Teacher Told me" (by James W. Loewen). This book is absolutely great! I am a history nut to begin with but this book cites some of the history we all "KNOW so well" and takes a somewhat different look at it. For example: Christopher Columbus. Need I go on? For the educated men and women of America, no. For the sheep I will paraphrase (I cannot do this book justice though so go get it ok?).

[PARAPHRASED] A great many of the "facts" about Columbus are hardly that; PROVEN FACTS. What is known about Columbus that goes AGAINST what we were all told in school (from FIRST HAND, HISTORICAL, PROVABLE accounts and materials) is that he came here for GOLD. When he could not find enough gold, he, almost by himself, started the modern (at that time) SLAVE INDUSTRY. The only reason the natives of the "West Indies" were replaced by the natives of Africa in later years as the predominate slave race for Europe and her colonies is because the Indians tended to DIE faster. Once all/most of these peoples were used up, Europeans decided to move on to Africa. He was not a "hero" until Eurocentric American history book writers made him one. We, as good Americans, have to think of ourselves as coming from heroic roots and history. Nationalism is the cause of this B.S. history. Whites to the top of the list, everyone else knew NOTHING before the white man showed him.

The rant could go on and on. I think we, as Americans, whatever our past/roots, ARE a good people. We need to understand that we are not all white or black or whatever. We are now all AMERICAN. We have a common cause and our own nation. We have the potential to have a unified voice in the world. Americans; not the American government. We need to stop fighting amongst ourselves for reasons long forgotten and hatred continued by those in high places and see the real enemy. Here's a hint: it's not the gays or the Christians, the Muslims or the Jews, it's not the blacks, the whites or the poor. How much of your hard earned money are YOU allowed to keep? How many laws govern your life everyday? How many laws and taxes and government do we all really need?...

NOW PLAYING: So Cold by Breaking Benjamin

Been awhile hasn't it? So what is there to report? Hmmm. Oh yeah, I got married! She actually went through with it. Can you believe that? I guess she could've done worse but I could not have done better. Stress free life now right? Wrong. Now comes house hunting and baby planning. Yep, babies. I never thought of myself as Peter Pan but it looks like I have to grow up sooner or later. Define "growing up". I tried and really haven't been able to pin down what those things are that I am not supposed to do anymore. I'll be happier when we buy our own place. Our apartment is really rough on my allergies and I find myself surviving on allergy medicine.

So what else is there? Four more years of Bush! Yay. Man I hope he just coasts through it. I am sure he will back legislation that makes his buddies a ton of money while we get the shaft but maybe he will back off of wiping his ass with our constitution. Naw. I doubt it. The voters, our friends and neighbors actually voted the "moral" issues. Moral issues! Iraq is a mess, our deficit and jobs lost are rampant and all our "neighbors" (you hayseed, inbred SOBs) care about is if the two well dressed men living next to them are bugging each other behind that closed door! Welcome to Jesusland. Please leave freedom of religion, lifestyle and thought at the border. Feed us dogshit from the communion platter and we'll eat it up. Nevermind the REAL issues just concentrate on Christian Values. Maybe sometime I will rant about how most bible thumping idiot Christians have it WRONG. Not this post though. I will leave you with something I wrote to a buddy of mine who had shown me an article about how pharmacies are denying woman birth control pills on "moral grounds". I guess doctors have no idea what they are doing to Ameri...Jesusland...

[PARAPHRASED] "I firmly believe that the Feds will never try to gather up the guns of the citizenry of America. For if they did that we would have a real excuse to start the Second Civil War. Instead they will tighten the noose of laws and taxes to constrain and drain us until we have nothing. No voice, no vote, no possessions...no Liberty. Hiding behind "democracy" and legally enacted measures, who are we to say that they are wrong. We are to blame for what is forced upon us. To slowly fray away or to be quickly chopped, the end is the same no matter the means..."

NOW PLAYING: Liberate by Disturbed

Two updates in two days? Yes it's true. I just revamped my webpage from the ground up and now I have to check out the "i"'s and "t"'s of it all. I gave my first Catholic confession tonight and that was cool. Our priest is very cool and has been very helpful in my search for answers. I dig the Catholic church. I like all of their rites and traditions. I like the formalized way they do everything. I am further down the path to "truth" but I don't think I agree with all of it. I doubt I ever will. That's ok though because I am way better off then I was 5 years ago. Hope you all enjoy the new site. Good night.

NOW PLAYING: Rise by Disturbed

The wedding is almost here! And I am almost on a beach in Mexico! Woot! Life is good. I may be "going away" for awhile though. David's Bridal may need to be burned to the ground and rumor has it you do time for that. From the start to the finish of this wedding endeavor D.B. screwed everything that it possibly could up, smiling ear-to-ear as they took hundreds of dollars. If you (whoever "you" may be) are reading this, take my advice: STAY AWAY FROM DAVID'S BRIDAL. Now I feel better... It all goes back to a complete LACK of customer service in this country. Gods and Clods, man, Gods and Clods. I am not a God or a Clod but for the love of God you idiots take SOME PRIDE in your minial little tasks. I love and hate Wal-Mart for this. Low prices = bad customer service. Why am I going off on this tangent? I WAS talking about the wedding? Anyway, I should get back to work on some stuff. Later.

NOW PLAYING: The Truth by Nonpoint

So I am still working on wedding stuff...LOL...no complaints though. We decided to make our own programs and they look professional. If you know me then you know they look BETTER than professional. It is all getting me in the spirit of things. Speaking of "spirits", I want to thank all the guys that came out for my bachelor party last Saturday night. It really meant a lot to me to be surrounded by family and friends and to feel that comradeship (sp?). Other news? Let me think... School is still killing me but things are getting done now. Slow and steady wins the race they say. I have a student assistant now too. He is bright and I expect good things from him. Lots of feedback from the community regarding the lack of updates on the webpages. Good and bad, hand in hand. I am "renewed" with work and life currently (even though my head is killing me!). Good night all.

NOW PLAYING: Cold by Crossfade

The song (Cold by Crossfade) that is currently playing RULES, no? Anyway, I am currently waiting on about the last 30 out of about 500 computers to complete "ghosting". While I wait why not update my webpage? "Ghosting", by the way, is the process of getting one computer EXACTLY how you want ALL of your computers to be set up and then saving that computer and then copying it to ALL the others. Actually pretty simple BUT it boots from DOS AND a FLOPPY. That is pain...real pain. I found this article from a cat at the University of Washington that REALLY helped me out [Scott Barker @ UW]. Scott and I emailed each other back and forth and he hooked me up with the "how to" on making custom Ghost Boot CDs! Rock!

Kristy says I don't talk about her in a "good" (LOL!) way on my site so I decided to do so now. I never try to be mean or nasty or anything, I am just a REALLY sarcastic person. It is my sense of humor you know? So...I LOVE HER VERY MUCH!!! :) How's that? More? Ok. We were just in Pat and Brandy's wedding [pix here] this weekend (I had WAY TOO MUCH fun, if you get me) and it got me thinking about our upcoming wedding. I can't wait! I complain a lot about the planning and money and such but it will be great. We have also been talking about kids...more later on that LOL! Good things good things. :)

Old News (August 16th, 2004)

A person is only capable of doing so many things during a given day/week/month right? Right. Man am I getting burned. So much stuff is going on in my life. Work is KILLING ME! I am behind and now the only way I am going to get what I want to get accomplished is by going in on the (staff/annoyance) free weekends. It really bothers me that some people cannot see beyond their own scope of influence. I am all about doing what is good for the WHOLE before the individual. Does that make me a commie? LOL. Just venting. A couple small changes to the page while I wait for the idiot cable repair guy...[PS: Dig the music? 64 kbps is good enough for the web!]

Old News (August 5th, 2004)

Good evening. Kristy and I just got back from 2 days (8 hours) of "Pre-Cana" classes. For those of you out there who don't know what Pre-Cana is, I will educate you. Pre-Cana is a premarital class that two engaged people take to talk with other married people about the trials and tribulations of marriage and life in the same home...forever...till death do us part. We actually really enjoyed it and got a good deal out of it. There were some other couples but they were mostly just "there". At the end was a very nice ceremony (Catholics have a lot of ceremonies) and blessing. I like the priest a lot. He was old but full of energy, enthusiasm and knowledge. He was well spoken and articulate. I think the KC and I are going to start attending this church if we don't find another Catholic church we enjoy closer to home. Well, I am over the space that I allot myself so...oh yeah...one more thing: I checked my voter status and made sure KC and I are ready for November! I cannot wait!

Old News (July 10th, 2004)

Well, did you ever have so much to "say" and you just couldn't find a way to do it justice? That is what I am coming up with when I try to write my "paper" on the situation in America right now. Part of me thinks "What does it matter anyway, things will never change?" and part of me thinks "That kind of talk would have us still be known as a British colony.". Anyway, PLEASE VOTE DEMOCRAT in the upcoming election! With Edwards on the ticket, Kerry might actually do something good with his time in office (instead of just NOT screwing things up more as 4 more years of the current regime [yes, regime] would). I looked over the Libertarian nominee and, though I am impressed with him, he still has no chance and I don't want to waste my vote. Maybe I will still get that "paper" off the ground someday soon. Work has been crazy busy and wedding planning can die. Today I am "off the leash" (LOL) while KC is in New York City with her sister. I formatted and reloaded a SATA drive last night (bring a friend and pack a lunch pal) and now my machine is running quite well. I have to give M$ credit, Windows XP Pro is a good, solid, product. I am long winded today! Have a good one.

Old News (June 7th, 2004)

Greetings! It has been awhile hasn't it? Oh well, life seems to get in the way of fun doesn't it? First, for all our Fundamentalist Extremist Nutbag friends out there, a little wish from me in a language they will understand...

May the fleas of a thousand camels infest your crotch and may your arms be too short to scratch.

Ok, on to the serious part of this update; I am currently putting together a collection of material that I have gathered from the WWW, books and other mediums to show my fiance the "Why?" of what I feel towards our government, militias and our (as Americans) NEED for self defense from terror and tyrants (both foreign and domestic). I plan on posting this "Manefesto" here on my site and I will not be ashamed. I also, thankfully, know the difference between "propaganda" and "fact"...

Old News (April 30th, 2004)

So, now we as American soldiers are committing atrocities? I wonder how long that's been going on? How about since the beginning of our history as a nation! Are people really that nieve to think that we don't do everything that other countries do? We are just better at it and don't get caught as much. Jesus, we need to get out of Iraq. We also need to VOTE BUSH THE HELL OUT OF OFFICE. I am not for Kerry but I at least feel he is not going to do any more harm. That's how I vote: for the one that will do the least harm. I haven't heard too much about Osama Bin Laden as of late, have you?...

Like my new Javascript talents? Check out the date bar above. Pretty neat. I have been digging into Java lately (mostly OTHER PEOPLE'S work LOL). Lots going on with little, enjoyable, projects at work. Student Online Portfolios are a big thing. They are indexed posting of student work from 9th through 12th grades. We hope to roll them out next year. It will hopefully get students and their parents involved in raising the quality of their work by getting them to compete. It's almost like we are "shaming" them into working harder by showing "C" rate work next to "A+" work. Gots to keep up with the Jones...Also working on a Discipline Form in HTML for staff members to refer behavior issues to the building principals. It is up. Opted for email submission to "double blind" the authenticity(sp?). Nice. Have a good week.

Old News (April 19th, 2004)

Spring break is over and I am back to work/school. I have been keeping myself busy working on the school's webpages and other minor tasks today but I am not back into the "swing" of things yet. I am now a Guinea Pig "expert" on AllExperts.com. It's pretty sweet. People ask me questions via proxy email from allexperts.com and I answer them. I have 25 questions under my belt and only one that I was pretty stumped on. I also just recently purchased a SATA 200 gig HDD. It ROCKS! Norton Ghost 2003 is a hunk of shit. I am glad I did not pay for it. I also took my vengence by downloading and hacking the serial on Norton AV 2004. Speaking of malintent, I am looking forward to trying eMule tonight. My buddies dig it and I saw a whole lot of stuff I want...

Old News (April 1st, 2004)

Now, I know a great many of you out there are expecting some big April Fool's Day thing from me on this site. That is not going to happen because I HATE April Fool's. I may have blocked it out or something but I believe that bad things happened to me when I was a child. Anyway, in other news I am learning XML and 3DS MAX 6. 3DS MAX 6 is a 3D rendering program that people make video game graphics from. Very neat. XML is useful in many things but I am learning it to use in RSS feeds. RSS is a webpage "newsfeed" or update notification (mine is <http://www.ryanrotuna.com/rss/rss.xml> if you are curious). Also interesting to me. Not much else going on really except I have been playing a lot of ZOO TYCOON (laugh if you must...I would). It relaxes me and it is quite enjoyable. Thinking of getting into a game of Rise of Nations tonight...

Old News (March 18th, 2004)

I think I finally got the webpage the way that I want it. I put in a place for "Rants" and plan on putting rants and things that I don't want to forget in there. Of course the "rant" that I was on when I decided to create the page is completely forgotten but such is life I guess. I had a snow day on Tuesday (yay me)! I had to have emergency oral surgery on...Tuesday (yay me)! As a result I am missing a back molar (is that how you spell it?) but I feel much better. I have been wanting to get my teeth "fixed up" for some time now. PS: Thinking of hosting and/or passing out the DND "Harbinger" Miniatures PDF that I created for cardboard folding minis. Have a bad feeling it would get big and I would get sued. Hmmmmmmmmmmm...

Hello. I am pretty boring again this week but still have lots to do. Work is much better (as all of the DNS shit is fixed finally). I have been going to the chiro and the massage therapist and that is working out well. The van was fixed well but it is back in the garage because it is not yet "perfect". I'll be tweaking out the last 20 of the 60 wireless laptops today at the HS. I have been playing around with Cisco IOS. I found TONS of books on it on Kazaa. If those guys make $60,000 per year to do that crap, I am in.

Old News (February 20th, 2004)

I am struck by a collection of quotations available here. I have been worried, almost "haunted" by a great deal of things lately. Most of all I am concerned about America and her enemies both without and within. I have been giving a lot of thought to starting a local militia group. It sounds strange, I know, but I really feel that it would have the potential for good. For now I leave you with this quote:

"All men dream: but not equally. Those who dream by night in the dusty recesses of their minds wake in the day to find that it was only vanity: but dreamers of the day are dangerous men, for they may act their dream with open eyes, to make it possible." - T.E. Lawrence.

So I really don't have anything new to say. Should I just blab on about random and meaningless stuff? No, that wouldn't be good. Oh, ok, so my wedding planning is driving me insane. There is one topic that I can talk about all day. It is the most expensive thing I can imagine that, in the end, you get nothing back (except a "wife" if that counts). Also, tried a new online D&D campaign with a 16TH LEVEL STARTUP PC! Yep, you heard it right. I bailed about 3 hours into it. No roleplaying, battled a dragon, lost my patience, the end. I am still looking...

Anyway, have a great week!

Old News (February 2nd, 2004)

So my cheap ass actually broke down and bought www.ryanrotuna.com! So now I have to go through the whole site and see if there is anything too "riss-kay" in it. Kids at my schools are constantly bored. They will come here just to see if I own the sitename and then to see how gay I am. LOL. No matter. If you ARE a student at my school and you are here on school time: GET YOUR ASS BACK TO WORK!

The Super bowl was a great game! I haven't seen a good SB in quite awhile. Come to think of it, I haven't seen much football in awhile (KC won't let me watch it). I was kinda disappointed in the commercials but oh well. I am not quite sure if I saw what I saw in regards to Janet Jackson or not or what the hell that was all about with the naked person on the field. I am off to find out.

BACK... So, yes, I did see what I saw regarding Janet Jackson! LMAO! They said it was "unintentional" and "unfortunate". Riiiiight... It looked planned to me. I also wish I would've seen the streaker who got creamed by a linebacker. Man that's gotta hurt...
